Ike Returns From Visits With Leaders Of Europe

Differences Of Nations 'Talked Out'

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower returned Monday from his dramatic diplomatic mission to Europe and reported that all the little differences among Western leaders have been "talked out."

"I am quite certain that for the moment, at least, everything is going splendidly," Eisenhower told a crowd of well-wishers at National Airport.

The President's jetliner touched down to a round of applause led by Mrs. Eisenhower and Vice President Richard M. Nixon. The flight from Prestwick, Scotland, took 8 hours and 14 minutes.

Eisenhower made his 12-day tour of West Germany, Britain, and France to check signals with Western leaders before undertaking an unprecedented exchange of visits with Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev.

Informal Remarks

In his informal remarks to the crowd of about 1,000 high officials and curious citizens at the airport, Eisenhower never mentioned the Soviet Union or Khrushchev, due here Sept. 15.

Instead, the President emphasized the unity and strength of the Western alliance.

Eisenhower said that while the West is "united in basic principle and purpose and in our pursuit of peace," geographic distance leads to small details of procedure, methods and tactics which need ironing out.

The President said he was happy to report that "every troublesome little problem of this type has been talked out." He started to speak of serious problems, then cut himself short and said he did not want to use that word.

Eisenhower looked ruddy and vigorous as he stepped down the ramp from his Boeing 707 jet to the martial strains of "Hail to the Chief."

At the foot of the ramp, Mrs. Eisenhower hurried forward to embrace him. "Welcome back," she said after kissing him warmly. Vice President and Mrs. Nixon then shook his hand, with the vice president telling Eisenhower he had done "a splendid job."

Many Cabinet members and Republican Congress members and their families were on hand, and Eisenhower shook hands with many of them before mounting a small platform to address the crowd.

"I'm so glad to be back," the President said with a broad grin.

Eisenhower said that in his talks with West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer, British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan and French President Charles de Gaulle, he had found "governmental unity."

But, he added, "far more heartening than this was the evidence that can be seen in all these countries of the deep friendship of these people for the American people."

"There is no other single factor of the modern world," he said, "that is now so important, I think, as this: that the peoples of the Western world have for each other a very deep, abiding affection, mutual trust — and in this there was a tremendous personal, moral and indeed a material and economic strength."

"So I am glad to bring you that kind of news."

For Eisenhower, the trip to Europe was something of a sentimental journey in addition to being a self-assigned diplomatic chore of great importance. In Britain and France, he was reunited with old comrades in arms from World War II. And in Germany he got an emotional welcome from a people who, just 14 years ago, were crushed by the Eisenhower-led armies of the wartime Allies.

Palmerton Area Driver Killed Near Kresgeville

KRESGEVILLE—A 24-year-old driver was killed early Saturday when his car left Route 209 and crashed into a utility pole here.

Daniel Frank Palmerton, RD 2, was pronounced dead at Gnadon Huetten Memorial Hospital, Lehighton. Emmett J. Ring of Jim Thorpe, deputy Carbon County coroner, said death was due to fractured ribs and a massive hemorrhage of the lungs.

Frank was pinned in his car for some time after the crash in front of the American Hotel. The accident caused a temporary power failure in the area.

State Police at Lehighton said Frank apparently lost control of the westbound vehicle. Village residents and a wrecking crew freed him from the wreckage and he was taken to the hospital in the West End ambulance.

A native of Lehighton, he was the son of Mrs. Mary Frank and the late James Frank. A star athlete in high school, he had been employed by Bethlehem Steel Co. for seven years and was a member of Sacred Heart Roman Catholic Church, Palmerton.

In addition to his mother, survivors are his wife, the former Theresa Pisselli; a son, Daniel, Jr., at home; and a sister, Mrs. Mary Ann Kintzel, Lehighton.

Services at 9 a.m. today in the Walter H. Snyder Funeral Home, Palmerton, will be followed by Requiem High Mass in Sacred Heart Church at 9:30 a.m.

Morse Slows Senate Drive To Finish

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate, although slowed by a one-man roadblock, passed a 4½-billion-dollar farm surplus disposal bill Saturday.

Also working in an unusual Labor Day session, the House sailed along in clearing up some of the noncontroversial bills stacked on its calendar.

By a variety of parliamentary maneuvers, Sen. Wayne Morse (D-Ore.) has been holding back the Senate in its planned drive toward adjournment.

However, he did not stand in the way of the surplus disposal bill, and this was taken as a sign he was relenting.

Also, the House made ready to take up a public works, or pork barrel bill, similar to one President Eisenhower vetoed. The new bill, at $1,185,300,000, is smaller than the vetoed one, but still contains 67 projects Eisenhower described as objectionable because of their ultimate cost.

Further, House Speaker Sam Rayburn (D-Tex.) indicated there will be action on a third housing bill before adjournment. Eisenhower vetoed the first two as extravagant and inflationary.

Morse did not completely hobble the Senate. For one thing, the pending business was a farm surplus disposal bill which had been accorded preferential status by unanimous assent last Wednesday, before the parliamentary was was declared.

Signs that Morse was easing off appeared when he let it be known he would not delay passage of this House-passed bill. He had said previously he meant to read to the Senate a three-volume history of the labor movement.

By early afternoon the Senate was well along with the surplus disposal bill, passing amendments swiftly.

These other things happened: Sen. Mike Mansfield (D-Mont.) called for the administration to go slow on any direct military involvement in Laos.

Johnson announced there is almost no chance this session to remove the ceiling on long-term government bonds. Eisenhower has asked for this, but the only likely thing now is permission to raise the interest rate on "E" and "H" savings bonds.

Ex-Convict Finds Body Of Trooper

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Shaken by a young, heartbroken widow's plea to "please tell," a sullen ex-convict Monday led state police to the grave of her missing trooper-husband.

Apparently, police said, the trooper was made to walk into his own grave and was killed with his own gun.

But they quoted the ex-convict, whom the trooper had gone to question five days ago in a $75 burglary, as saying he shot only when the trooper bolted in an attempt to tie him up to assure a getaway.

Alvin Knight, 48, a former mental patient as well as ex-convict, suddenly offered Monday to show "where the body is."

That break came nine hours after 29-year-old trooper Albert Souden's widow dramatically confronted him in police headquarters here.

Uniform Removed

Knight led police to a grave, only partially dug and over which brush had been pulled in a heavy thicket 20 miles southwest of Flint. It was in a depression.

State Police Commissioner Joseph Childs said it appeared Souden had been made to walk into his grave. But Childs later quoted Knight as saying he attempted to dig the grave with a shovel from the trooper's cruiser after he had been shot.

Souden had been stripped of his uniform. It was found buried nearby.

Souden appeared to have been shot three times, in the leg, chest and back of the head.

Finding of the thicket grave ended a search in which an army of searchers had taken part. At times as many as 300 of the state police force of 1,100 were working directly on the case.

Macmillan Seeks Okay For Election

LONDON (AP)—Prime Minister Harold Macmillan flew to Scotland Monday to get approval of Queen Elizabeth II for a speedy national election. Polling is likely to be held either Oct. 8 or Oct. 15.

Macmillan's unexpected departure from London for Balmoral threw the nation into a fever of pre-election excitement. Cabinet members canceled appointments and held themselves ready for Macmillan's return to the capital today.

The opposition Labor party, with its top leaders absent on a visit to Moscow, proclaimed confidence in wrestling power from the ruling Conservatives.

But British poll-takers predicted another victory for the Tories, riding high on Britain's current prosperity and standing in foreign affairs.

Dr. Henry Durant, director of the Gallup poll organization in Britain, told a conference in Brighton: "The Conservatives are ahead on practically every issue. There are very few issues indeed in which the Labor party has been able to preserve the widespread good will which it enjoyed 14 years ago."

Returning Home

In Moscow, Labor party leaders Hugh Gaitskill and Aneurin Bevan canceled plans to visit Poland and said they would hurry home. In their absence, the party chairman, Barbara Castle, sent up a rallying call to Laborite supporters.

"We are going to win this election," she told a meeting in Blackpool, "and we are going to win it, comrades, because we deserve to win it. We shall give the Tories the shock of their lives."

The date of the election is expected to be announced soon after Macmillan returns.

A crowd of about 60 cheered the smiling Macmillan through the gates of Balmoral.

To clear the decks for the election of a new 630-member House of Commons, it is necessary for Queen Elizabeth to proclaim the dissolution of Parliament.

Pen Argyl Hunters Saved In Wilderness Of Alaska

PEN ARGYL—A Pen Argyl hunter, stranded in an Arctic wilderness for almost a week, will continue hunting in Alaska until he gets the animals he wants, his family said last night.

Victor Salvador, Jr., 27, East Mountain Ave., was stranded in the Hulahula River area last Monday after a small plane which flew him there was forced down while returning to Umiat, Alaska, to pick up Anthony Zanette, 57, of 620 Arch St., Pen Argyl, who is hunting with Salvador.

Bad weather had made it impossible to fly to the area where Salvador was stranded. He was rescued Saturday and flown to Barter Island, where the hunters will rest a few days.

Salvador was rescued by Frank Gregory, a Wien pilot who spotted him earlier Sunday.

Reports that he was marooned without supplies were not correct, his family said.

Salvador's twin brother, Lawrence, a pilot for Wien Alaska Airlines, told the family by telephone Saturday night that Victor had ample provisions.

Salvador and Zanette are hunting mountain sheep and grizzly bear and are seeking trophy specimens of both animals.

Salvador's father, Victor, Sr., had planned to make the trip with Zanette, but recently suffered a thumb amputation in an accident and his son took his place.

Illegal Activity

Q. In one of your columns, you said that when one of the two depositors in a joint bank account dies the survivor must obtain a waiver from the state taxing authorities or comply with whatever rules apply in the particular state. You said that the survivor cannot legally draw the money out of the account as if nothing had happened.

A. As a former employee of a savings and loan association, I can tell you that this does not apply to S&L association accounts. If you and your wife have an S&L account as "joint tenants with right of survivorship and not as tenants in common" and you die, she can draw out the money in the account any time she likes—no questions asked.

A. If I left this vale of tears and my blue-eyed finance officer did what you suggest, she would fracture the law. And, if the employee or officer of the S&L association who handled the transaction knew that I was dead, he would also be acting illegally.

This is one case where the same rules apply to joint bank accounts, joint S&L accounts and all other jointly held assets. To comply with the law, a tax waiver (or whatever the individual state requires) should be obtained before any jointly-held assets are disposed of.

Now, a state tax waiver or the like is generally a simple thing to get. It can often be obtained within a matter of hours. And, even without a waiver, many institutions will allow a survivor to withdraw a limited amount of money.

There's no denying that many people bust these regulations, either through ignorance or intent and that some bank and S&L employees wink at the regulations. But bankers and S&L people should at least know the rules.

Q. I have been told that you once wrote about restrictions on sales of any Canadian stocks in this country. I own some shares in Molybdenite Corp. of Canada and am worried. If the sales of Canadian stocks is restricted here, what happens to my investment?

A. This must be my day for going over previous columns. Since you got your information second hand and evidently didn't read the column in question, I can only assume that it was one in which I mentioned the Securities and Exchange Commission's "Canadian Restricted List." That list includes 223 Canadian stock issues that cannot legally be sold, offered for sale or purchased in the U. S.

However, there are many more Canadian issues that can be purchased and sold in this country. Some of them are high-quality investments. Molybdenite Corp. of Canada's shares are traded on the American Stock Exchange. It's a low-price, speculative issue. But you can buy or sell it any time you like.

Q. About two weeks ago, you wrote that "the government will accept certain Treasury coupon bonds at par value in payment of Federal estate taxes, if the bonds are held one full year prior to death."

This statement seems to be at variance with Treasury Department literature which indicates (and prominent tax authorities confirm this) that a decedent need only own the bonds on the date of death to make the bonds eligible for acceptance at par value for Federal estate tax liability.

A. Here's one I'm stuck with. You are right. I was wrong. What more can I say?

All Pocono Mountains Jointure To Open Next Monday

Fire Hazard Work Delays First Day

ALL OF Pocono Mountains Jointure's seven schools will remain closed this week. They were scheduled to open tomorrow.

Supervising Principal Willis Dunlap said fire hazard repairs have not been finished at Paradise Township School. Last week he announced the Pocono and Jackson Township schools will not be ready for use until Monday, Sept. 14, for the same reason.

Because students from other districts in the jointure attend Paradise School, all the schools will have to stay closed until Sept. 14, Dunlap said.

He explained the resulting transportation problem: Pocono and Jackson Township students attend only these two schools. With the late opening of them, no other jointure schools would have been affected.

Remaining Buildings
But the closing of Paradise Township School means the closing of all the remaining buildings — Barrett, Mount Pocono, Tobyhanna and Coolbaugh.

Unable to attend the closed Paradise School will be some of Tunkhannock Township's elementary pupils and Mount Pocono's fourth to sixth graders.

And with Paradise closed, none of its first to third graders will go to Mount Pocono and none of its secondary students to Barrett.

Barrett, with only its own secondary students present, will not open.

Because some of its pupils will not be able to start school on schedule, Mount Pocono will close. The rest of Tunkhannock's elementary pupils would have gone there.

And Tunkhannock, with no place to send its elementary students, will not send its high school students to Tobyhanna. So Tobyhanna will close.

Unaffected up to this point would be Coolbaugh. But all special education children attend classes at Mount Pocono. Since this school will be closed to the Coolbaugh special education pupils, Coolbaugh will close as well.

Automobile Runs Into Sign, Pole
STROUDSBURG Police last night reported a one-car accident occurred at the corner of Broad and Bryant Sts. at 10:34 p.m. yesterday.

Estimated damage to the car was given by police at $100. Police said Lupin fell asleep at the wheel, causing the accident.

Lupin, former football and baseball star at East Stroudsburg, is a candidate for the East Stroudsburg State Teachers College football squad at the present time.

Pleasant Valley Classes Open Today

SIGNS of the time: early morning clusters of children waiting along roads for school buses.

This week many of Monroe County's approximately 8,675 school children will return to the classrooms. Attendance will increase by about 400 over last year.

Pleasant Valley Jointure's 775 students and the Seventh Day Adventist's 41 will start school today.

Opening tomorrow will be East Stroudsburg Area Joint Schools, Stroud Union School District and St. Matthew's Par-ochial School.

Pocono Mountains Joint Schools will delay their opening until next Monday because of fire hazard repair work still going on.

Bangor Area
Outside the county another 2,194 students will start riding school buses again when Bangor Area Joint Schools start classes tomorrow.

Friday about 1,175 college students will start work at East Stroudsburg State Teachers Col-lege, freshman will arrive today and register tomorrow, and up-per classmen will register Thursday.

Stroud Union will show an in-crease of about 40 elementary students and 135 secondary stu-dents. Because of the increased attendance the high school will operate on an eight instead of a seven-period daily schedule. The 950-pupil building will have 1,170 secondary students.

East Stroudsburg expects 2,000 students, an increase of about 100. A new high school building is under construction.

Pleasant Valley Jointure's 775 students represents an in-crease of about 40. Excavating for a new junior-senior high school began last week.

Pocono Mountains will have about 1,900 students. Supervis-ing Principal Willis Dunlap could not predict how many new students would be on hand next Monday as a result of the influx of new residents in the Pocono Mountains.

The college expects an in-crease of about 35 students over last year's 1,139. Bangor High School will have 910 seventh to 12th graders in a building built for 550.

State Wins Top Honor

HARRISBURG (AP) — Penn-sylvania won top rehabilitation honors in the nation in the fiscal year ending June 30 by training and placing 6,117 phys-ically handicapped citizens in gainful employment.

It was the third straight year that Pennsylvania has won.

"The vocational rehabilita-tion program helps people to help themselves overcome their handicaps and become working members of their communities and our society," Gov. Law-rence said.

Opening Session
All Democratic candidates for office will attend the rally, which marks the start of the campaign of the Monroe County Democratic Party.

Judge Eagen, 52 years old, is now serving his 18th year as Lackawanna County Court of Common Pleas judge.

He was elected district at-torney of Lackawanna County in 1933, at the age of 26, be-coming the youngest district at-torney in the county's history.

He was first elected to the position of judge at the age of 34 and was reelected to an- other 10-year term in 1951 with the endorsement of both major political parties.

In April of this year, the Lackawanna County Bar Assn. by a 203 to zero vote adopted a resolution affirming Judge Eagen's qualifications and recom-mending his candidacy for the State Supreme Court.

Over One-Fifth Of Voters In County Not Registered

Monroe Countians, like other Americans everywhere, cherish their God-given right to go to the polls and cast a secret ballot for the candidates of their own choice. The peoples of many lands do not enjoy the same privilege.

One would imagine that nearly every citizen would avail himself of the opportunity to vote at every election.

Surprisingly, however, such is not the case. According to word reaching us from Harrisburg, there are 5,159 Monroe County residents over 21 who would be eligible to vote at the Nov. 3 election except for one thing — they are not registered.

This is a high percentage of the potential electorate, in fact between one-fourth and one-fifth of the total. Such a bloc is enough to swing any election on the county level.

Each of us can strike a telling blow for or against a candidate in only one way — by expressing our opinion inside the polling booth. But we can't cast a single ballot unless we are registered.

And for those 5,159 people who are not now on the voting rolls, only six days remain before the registration books are closed for the November election.

The county commissioners have gone to considerable expense to send registrars out into the county to enroll unregistered voters. But the response has been anything but encouraging.

In one district, only five persons were registered in a three-hour period. The cost to the county was $27 — or more than five dollars for each new voter enrolled. In other districts, the cost has never dropped below one dollar per registrant.

What a pity! It leads the commissioners to wonder whether it's worth the expense they go to in making it convenient for new voters to register.

Who must register? Not everyone, of course, under Pennsylvania's permanent registration law.

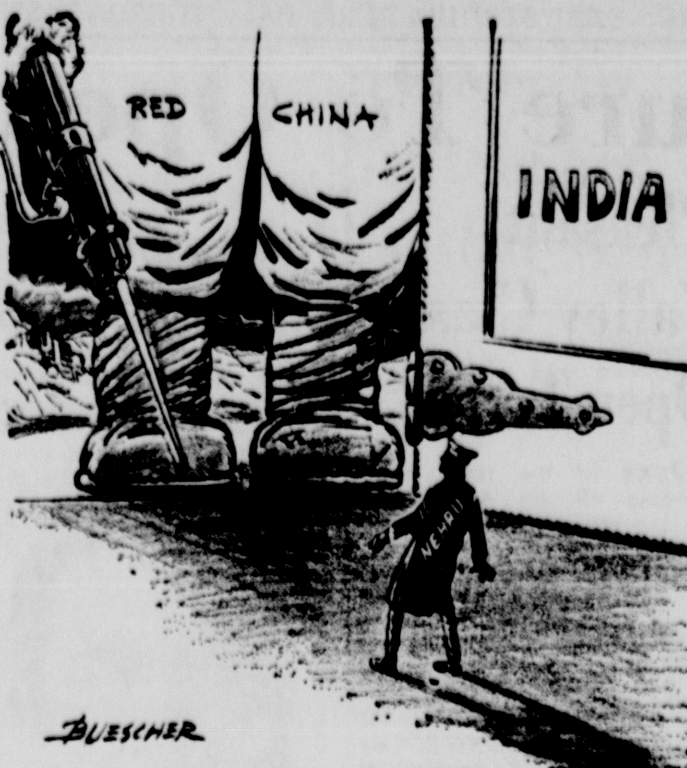

New residents who have lived in Pennsylvania one year by election day are eligible to enroll. Also, citizens who will be 21 years of age by Nov. 4, the day after the general election.

Women who have changed their name through marriage since last registering must report the change to the Registration Commission. So, too, must those who have moved from one voting district to another.

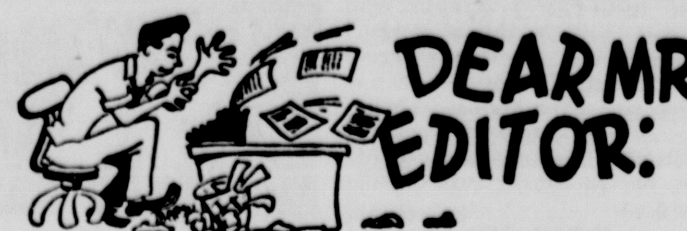

If you were registered previously, but have not voted for two general elections, you must reregister if you intend to vote in November. The same is true for those who move from one county to another within the state.

You may register at the commissioners' office in the Court House any day this week from 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m., on Friday and next Monday from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. and on Saturday from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

The Sept. 14 deadline is near at hand. If you are not registered, do it now and assure yourself of a vote in November. Let's see if we can cut that 5,159 down to zero in a week's time.

DEAR MR. EDITOR:

Expense Worries Her

Dear Editor:

I see by the letters sent in I am not the only one worried about where the money will come from for the sewer.

I am a widow on Social Security pension and can't even afford to keep my home in repair. Where am I going to get $1,000 to pay for a sewer that I don't need and along with that $38 a year rental charge with the high taxes we already have?

I, too, think it should be put on the ballot and let the people vote on it.

I think it is high time there should be a little consideration showed for the taxpayers and the people that help to keep the town going 12 months of the year. They took our bus service off and forced us to use taxi service if we want to go anywhere. What did our mayors or business men do about it? Nothing. But when they talk about taking two of the trains off, what a squawk they put up, it might inconvenience the summer folks. Do they even stop to think just what it would be like if they had to depend on the summer people to keep them going in business for the whole year?

JUST ANOTHER WORRIED TAXPAYER.

George Sokolsky Says...

Khrushchev And Mao

Two views can be taken of the Sino-Indian situation and it is not likely that the truthful explanation will be available for many years. Mao Tse-tung is a complex personality, the product of a mixture of Confucian and orthodox Marxist thinking.

He is a pragmatist whose measure of the rightness, the fitness, the propriety of a course of action is its effective implementation.

Obviously, Nikita Khrushchev would not take the trip to the United States and make all the preparations he is making for it, if he anticipated a total failure.

It is equally obvious that the support that the United States is giving Laos and the support that Great Britain and the United States must give to India could lead to real trouble.

In fact, Nehru fears a war between India and Red China because he would have to call in Britain and American (of United Nations) protection. India is a member of the Commonwealth of Nations and of the United Nations.

It begins to look as though the troubles in Asia, coming a fortnight before Khrushchev comes to the United States, could spoil the effectiveness of his visit here. The two views on this subject are:

1. That Khrushchev intends to ride into our land with a fanfare of explosions to show his power and his fearlessness. I do not hold to this view because it is self-defeating.

It would so stiffen the backs of our people that it would be long before Khrushchev would discover that we cannot be bullied and Eisenhower would find that his peace program had been defeated not in Moscow or Washington but in the southeast of Asia. Why come at all under such circumstances?

2. The other view is that Mao Tse-tung is making it very tough for Khrushchev. There can be several reasons for this:

First of all, Mao is an orthodox Marxist. He has clearly indicated that he does not approve the middle course (that is, within Marxism) that Khrushchev pursues. Mao was closer to the Kaganovich-Malenkov - Molotov group, which Khrushchev denounced as anti-party and exiled, than he ever was to Khrushchev.

Secondly, in the past Khrushchev's orientation has been eastward and he has supported Mao's empire-building throughout Asia. It will be recalled that Chou En-lai, Mao's Premier, sought to play the leading role at the Bandung Conference (1955). As far back as that Nehru must have suspected that Mao hoped to establish a hegemony over the whole East and South Asia.

What Mao must fear is that Khrushchev will go European on him. He must fear that a prolonged series of Summit meetings, constant personal contacts with heads of Western states, such fraternization as was evident during the Nixon visit, could reorient Khrushchev's position into a westward direction.

Without Russian support, Mao could not last in China. He has depended upon Russia since he forsook philosophy for politics sometime about 1925.

Thirdly, it has been a sore point with Mao that despite Russian support, Red China has not been admitted to the United Nations and has not been recognized by the United States.

Year after year, the Russians plead with the United Nations to admit Red China, which, as things stand, is an outlaw nation.

Just as Khrushchev has recently been advocating to Germany, so he has been advocating two Chinas, an idea which evoked considerable sympathy among the pro-Russians in the State Department.

Mao understands his own people and he knows that two generations will have to die before the hatred for Russia, long existent in China, dies off. Meanwhile, he is forced to show his dependence upon Russia because he has no voice in international councils. He can only talk through Russian mouths.

And now Khrushchev is coming to Washington and Eisenhower is going to Moscow and one thing can lead to another. Mao is an envious man. I can recall his hatred for Chen Tushu who organized the Chinese Communist Party.

Mao disliked in the Peking University such philosophers as Hu Shih and Chiang Mong-ling, his contemporaries. An envious man can only view what Khrushchev is doing with bitterness. He, too, would like to be at a Summit—but how? Only through Khrushchev. It is not good enough.

This is not based on facts. It is a surmise that comes from long residence in China and some experience with Chinese habits of thought.

'New Look' Developing At College

We spent one of our most pleasant visits to the campus of East Stroudsburg State Teachers College on Friday. It was enlightening and refreshing.

The occasion was an informal get-together of college officials and the press of surrounding areas. It was a period of time well spent.

It was a refreshing visit from the very moment we placed these tired old eyes on the bright and colorful new football uniforms worn by the grid squad for the occasion. The uniforms are white, with red and black trimmings.

From a look at the squad to a meeting with players and then to a luncheon in the training room, we moved to the highlight of the affair.

The highlight to me came from remarks and answers to questions by Dr. LeRoy J. Koehler, college president;

Dr. Frank Sill, head of the physical education department, and Dr. George Ockershausen, athletic director.

Dr. Koehler explained the various limits placed on a state teachers college in the manner it spends money. ESSTC is limited to $17,000 for 15 sports, which is spreading finances as thin as oil in a wrist watch.

Whatever expenditures come over that figure are drawn from the sale of student activity tickets, which again places a decided limit on the finances.

But, Koehler, Sill and Ockershausen are working as a unit in an effort to overcome problems that have beset the institution in recent years.

It is this writer's opinion that the athletic situation is about to take on a new look up on Normal Hill. The new look will be such that it will interest actual residents of Monroe County more than ever before.

The new program is being developed with Stroudsburg and East Stroudsburg and surrounding areas uppermost in mind. The college wants to become a part of this community. It wants to be part of our daily life.

A publicity setup, plans for an expanded and improved athletic program, including all sports, is only a starter.

This season is the beginning and the program will undoubtedly improve in succeeding years. The job can't be done in a day or a week. It will take time. But, the important thing is the fact that the drive is under way.

Coach Jack Gregory, new football coach at ESSTC, was the father of yesterday's "meet the press" idea and the venture was highly successful.

Jack has instilled an outstanding spirit in his squad. Nobody expects miracles the first year, but the Warriors will be the best dressed college team to play in Monroe County—I'll wager.

One of the first "community" moves by the college is scheduling Saturday night grid battles with Ithaca College, at Gordon Giffels Field, and West Chester, at Memorial Stadium.

Yes, I firmly believe the new look is about to arrive.

Chandler's Power Wanes

Robert S. Allen and Paul Scott are on vacation. During their absence, a leading Kentucky editor, in a particularly graphic article, today writes about the hectic gubernatorial race in that historic state — the one gubernatorial election in the country this year.

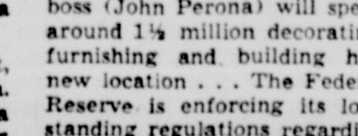

By Norman E. Isaacs

Managing Editor, The Louisville Times

Louisville, Ky. — Despite his typical braggadocio, the spunky has gone from "Happy" C. H. A. dler's, political star in Kentucky.

Four years ago, he was riding high. He had just beaten the regular Democratic party organization in the primary, he was a shoo-in for the governorship, and he was, even then, talking about his prospects for the White House.

He was still a powerful figure in 1956 and many a Kentucky Democrat credits Chandler with a major assist in the election of Republicans Thurston Morton and John Sherman Cooper to the United States Senate.

But between 1956 and 1959, Albert Benjamin Chandler has been on a political toboggan, picking up downhill speed at an ever-increasing rate. Every major candidate he supported in that period was trounced. And this summer, his political heir, Harry Lee Waterfield, ran for the Democratic nomination for governor and tried in every possible way to keep Chandler off the stump and out of the campaign.

Bert Combs, the relatively colorless mountain judge, whom Chandler upset four years ago, won the nomination easily. Strongly supported by Chandler's arch-enemy, former Senator Earle Clements, Combs won by a margin of 33,000 votes — and some 30,000 of those came from the Louisville district.

Dental Care Important

Dear Abby: I am writing in hopes that you can help my kid sister. She is 13 and has the prettiest face you ever saw. She looks like an angel. There is just one thing that spoils her looks and it's her teeth. They are growing in so crooked it is a shame.

I begged my parents to get her braces but they say Nature will straighten her teeth in time. I know this isn't so because my teeth grew in very crooked, and Nature didn't straighten them out. But it doesn't matter much because I am a boy (15) and not very good looking anyway.

I wish you'd say in your column that it's important for a girl to have nice teeth. If you help my sister, I'll pray for you. Thank you.

BIG BROTHER

Dear Brother: Proper dental care is important (for girls and boys) for the sake of good health as well as good looks. The self-confidence of a pretty smile is worth all the time and money invested. Urge your parents to take this little doll to a dentist at once. If they can't afford it, have them inquire about dental clinics and the local dental college.

Dear Abby: We have a married son who has children. We like to visit them but I feel that when we are there we should remember that we are guests. My wife, on the other hand, tells everyone what to do, corrects the children and acts like she lives there. I would like to enjoy the children. Am I wrong? Please print this as it might give her a hint. But don't use my name or I'm a dead duck.

"DEAD DUCK"

Dear Dead: Shame on Grandma! She should learn that there is an "art" in being a good guest—just as there is an art in being a good hostess.

Dear Abby: About six months ago I opened my big mouth and told my boyfriend's mother I could give her a good home permanent. She bought the kit and I gave her one.

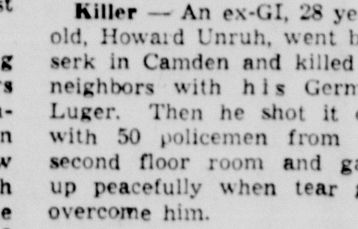

When her sisters saw it, they asked if I'd give them one. She has three sisters, I agreed.

Ever since that time, my boyfriend's mother and her three sisters get together every Sunday. They send my boyfriend after me so I can fix their hair. How can I get out of setting hair every Sunday night without hurting any feelings?

Dear Stuck: If you want to keep these women out of your hair — stay out of theirs. Tell your boyfriend you'd rather not spend your Sundays playing Beauty Operator. Repeat the speech every Sunday, if necessary. They'll soon catch on.

Jim Riley Says:

'New Look' Developing At College

We spent one of our most pleasant visits to the campus of East Stroudsburg State Teachers College on Friday. It was enlightening and refreshing.

The occasion was an informal get-together of college officials and the press of surrounding areas. It was a period of time well spent.

It was a refreshing visit from the very moment we placed these tired old eyes on the bright and colorful new football uniforms worn by the grid squad for the occasion. The uniforms are white, with red and black trimmings.

From a look at the squad to a meeting with players and then to a luncheon in the training room, we moved to the highlight of the affair.

The highlight to me came from remarks and answers to questions by Dr. LeRoy J. Koehler, college president;

Dr. Frank Sill, head of the physical education department, and Dr. George Ockershausen, athletic director.

Dr. Koehler explained the various limits placed on a state teachers college in the manner it spends money. ESSTC is limited to $17,000 for 15 sports, which is spreading finances as thin as oil in a wrist watch.

Whatever expenditures come over that figure are drawn from the sale of student activity tickets, which again places a decided limit on the finances.

But, Koehler, Sill and Ockershausen are working as a unit in an effort to overcome problems that have beset the institution in recent years.

It is this writer's opinion that the athletic situation is about to take on a new look up on Normal Hill. The new look will be such that it will interest actual residents of Monroe County more than ever before.

The new program is being developed with Stroudsburg and East Stroudsburg and surrounding areas uppermost in mind. The college wants to become a part of this community. It wants to be part of our daily life.

A publicity setup, plans for an expanded and improved athletic program, including all sports, is only a starter.

This season is the beginning and the program will undoubtedly improve in succeeding years. The job can't be done in a day or a week. It will take time. But, the important thing is the fact that the drive is under way.

Coach Jack Gregory, new football coach at ESSTC, was the father of yesterday's "meet the press" idea and the venture was highly successful.

Jack has instilled an outstanding spirit in his squad. Nobody expects miracles the first year, but the Warriors will be the best dressed college team to play in Monroe County—I'll wager.

One of the first "community" moves by the college is scheduling Saturday night grid battles with Ithaca College, at Gordon Giffels Field, and West Chester, at Memorial Stadium.

Yes, I firmly believe the new look is about to arrive.

Chandler's Power Wanes

Robert S. Allen and Paul Scott are on vacation. During their absence, a leading Kentucky editor, in a particularly graphic article, today writes about the hectic gubernatorial race in that historic state — the one gubernatorial election in the country this year.

Managing Editor, The Louisville Times

Louisville, Ky. — Despite his typical braggadocio, the spunky has gone from "Happy" C. H. A. dler's, political star in Kentucky.

Four years ago, he was riding high. He had just beaten the regular Democratic party organization in the primary, he was a shoo-in for the governorship, and he was, even then, talking about his prospects for the White House.

Beverly Ann Peechatka, Bradford Youngken Wed

Miss Beverly Ann Peechatka, daughter of Mrs. Walter C. Peechatka, of Scotrun, and the late Mr. Peechatka, was married on Saturday afternoon to Bradford Alden Youngken, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Youngken, of Pocono Manor.

The Rev. Dr. Edward T. Horn performed the double ring ceremony at 2:30 o'clock in St. Paul's Lutheran Church in Tannersville. The church was decorated with white pompons, asters, gladioli and rhododendron. Master Richard Curtis served as acolyte.

Mrs. C. Daniel Biesemderfer of Coatesville, a cousin of the bride, was soloist. She sang "Because," "I Love You," and "O Perfect Love" before the ceremony and "The Lord's Prayer" while the bride and groom knelt at the altar. Mrs. G. Ford Warner, of Saylorsburg, an aunt of the bride, was organist and supplied the traditional wedding music.

The bride, given in marriage by her brother, Walter N. Peechatka, wore a floor length gown of ivory tone silk organza over taffeta with a basque bodice. The Sabrina neckline and brief sleeves were fashioned of Chantilly lace and dotted with sequins and seed pearls. The contoured harem skirt fell gently over Chantilly lace and the full back descended into a chapel train.

Her headpiece was a jeweled lace crown which held her double-tiered fingertip veil of imported French illusion. She carried a cascade of white roses and stephanotis, interspersed with ivy.

Her maid of honor, Miss Kristine Kellerhals of Tannersville, was attired in a street length dress of rose peau de soie, made with a fitted torso bodice, square neck, brief sleeves, a light rose cummerbund with a matching rose in the center, and a bouffant skirt with an unpressed pleat in front. She wore a matching ribbon headband. Pink asters, white pompons, blue delphiniums and ivy were combined in her bouquet.

The bridesmaids were Miss Donna Sandt of Tannersville and Miss Susan Scharf, of Scotrun. They wore blue dresses and headbands similar to the bride's.

Wyckoff

STROUDSBURG, PA.

In the midst of all the talk and concern about juvenile delinquency, Jack LaBar, our Wyckoff maintenance supervisor, just dropped by to entertain us with a delightful story about his own children, Linda and Peter, and a group of their Delaware Water Gap friends.

It seems that last evening (Thursday) a number of boys and girls from the Shepherd Avenue section of the Gap sponsored a carnival. They had been thinking about it for some time . . . and hours of planning were represented by the show that finally drew dozens of children from the entire community and their parents.

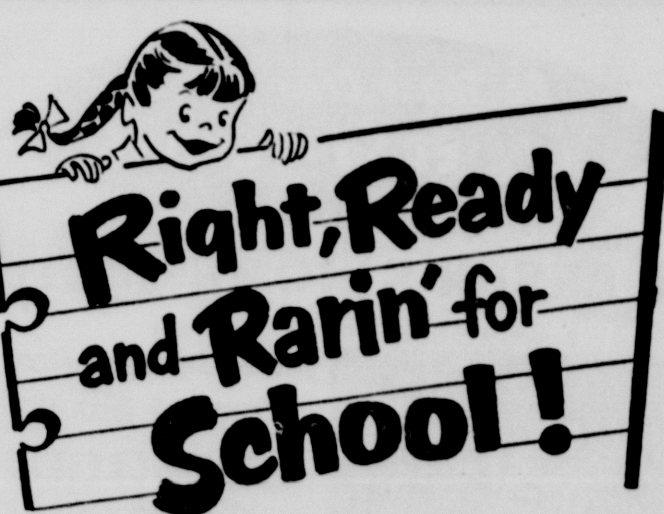

The basement of one home was utilized as a "fun house". One entered in the dark . . . to find himself in a veritable dungeon where strings, suspended from the ceiling, "crawled" over one's shoulder, neck, and arms like some mysterious worm or snake from outer space. There was spaghetti to trail weirdly over one's hands . . . a mysterious hand to lead one around . . . and a pop gun to go off at unexpected intervals and scare one out of seven years' growth.

Outside, children rolled down the hill in "barrels" improvised from huge shipping cartons. There were bowling, and other games, as well as hot dogs, lemonade, and a boy with his head jutting out of a box who permitted you to pelt his face with boiled rice for a few pennies a throw.

Parents and children alike had a marvelous time . . . and when the curfew hour of 9:30 approached, everyone was reluctant to leave. Some young customers lingered on, hoping to get another hot dog at a discount price.

When everything was cleared away, and the pennies counted, the youngsters had made 22.00. And what did they do with it?—Divided it equally between the two community churches—Presbyterian and Methodist. No wonder Jack was excited and thrilled!

This particular column won't see any Wyckoff merchandise. It isn't intended to do so. I write it merely as a public service—to give everyone a much needed spiritual lift, and to restore some of the public faith shattered recently by stories about gang slayings, church desecrations, and juvenile delinquency in gen-

Modernize Your Heat Plant Now

MODERNIZATION and conditioning of your heating system can best be accomplished before cool weather sets in fully . . . and proper condition of your furnace or heating system cut down on your fuel bills according to Robert Collins, manager of D. Katz and Sons Plumbing and Heating Division.

Hundreds of home heating plants, Collins points out, are still limping along with systems originally made for solid fuel. The entire system can be given a lift by a new unit designed especially for modern fuels.

Fuel economy, moreover, and better appearance to say nothing of better heating will result from this change, Collins adds.

Heat Distributors
Revolutionary changes have been made in heat distributors. Available for replacing old-style radiators are inconspicuous baseboards which provide a high degree of comfort by heating the lower part of the room and blanketing outside walls with a curtain of warmth.

Also available are streamlined convectors with attractive modern lines which can be installed free-standing or recessed.

Visit the new D. Katz and Sons showroom on Tanite Road and let Collins help you with your heating problems.

Sears Marks Anniversary With Sale Sept. 10 To 19

EMPLOYEES OF THE Sears, Roebuck and Co. retail store in Stroudsburg will observe the 73rd birthday of their company with an Anniversary Sale from Thursday, Sept. 10 to 19.

The local store will join with more than 700 sister stores in the nation-wide Sears family in staging this annual nine-day event.

"Millions of dollars worth of special merchandise has been ordered and months of preparation have gone into this event," Manager Jesse Pierson explained.

Forty employees of the Stroudsburg store will be competing with other Sears stores and store staffs from coast to coast for achievement awards during the event.

Pierson won the Eastern zone contest for store managers two years ago. It was his first year at the local Wyckoff-Sears Store. He formerly managed a Sears retail outlet in Hanover.

Many veteran Sears employees are handling important assignments in connection with the anniversary celebration. Richard Fredenberg, assistant manager in charge of the 73rd contest; Robert Hoffman, advertising manager handling sales promotion; Howard Mills, appliance sales manager heading "Big Ticket" sales and a host of other department managers who have specially selected merchandise offerings to make this the biggest Anniversary Sale for all of the Sears customers they have served for so long.

Total Of 121 Gold Medals Won By U.S.

By Jerry Liska
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

CHICAGO (AP) — The United States closed the third Pan-American Games Monday by capturing the colorful prize des nations equestrian championship for its 121st gold medal. A crowd of 50,000 sweltering fans saw the riding finale and traditional game-ending ceremonies in Soldier Field.

It was strictly no contest as Uncle Sam's riders carried out the dominating U.S.A. theme in the 12-day sports carnival which ended with the ceremonies in Soldier Field.

After the parade of the flags of the 24 competing nations, sounding of taps and lowering of the Pan - American and the American flags, the Pan-American torch atop the scoreboard in Soldier Field was extinguished.

Closed Brilliantly
After scoring 24 faults in the morning phase of the prize, the U.S.A. closed brilliantly with a 3-man afternoon total of only 8 faults. Paced by a perfect ride by Hugh Wiley, 31, of Towson, Md., aboard Nautical.

Trailing the U.S.A.'s total of 32 faults, was Brazil, taking the silver medals with 39.

In the only other competition of the day, Argentina beat Brazil 6-5 at Portage Park pool in a play-off for second place in the water polo championship. The U.S.A. previously had won this title, too, with a perfect 6-0 record.

Won 72 Silver
The United States also won 72 silver medals for second and 52 bronze third place medals. Argentina was next with nine gold, 22 silver, and 12 bronze. Other gold medal winners included Brazil 8, Canada 7, Mexico 6, Chile 5, Cuba, West Indies Federation and Bahamas 2 each, and Venezuela and Uruguay 1 each.

The individual parade of flags carried by four members of each delegation was followed by another parade of standard bearers carrying each country's flag.

Torch Extinguished
As taps were sounded, the Pan-American torch, which had been flaming brightly above the scoreboard at the south end of Soldier Field was extinguished by remote control at 5:12 p.m. Michael J. McCormick pronounced the third Pan - American Games officially closed.

With the dousing of the torch, an aerial fireworks display scattered parachutes carrying miniature flags of all the participating nations over the crowd.

Aid Boxers, Aim Of NBA

TORONTO (AP)—The National Boxing Assn. wound up its annual convention Thursday unified in the hope of guiding boxers towards financial security while they are fighting and some security when they retire.

Concern was also voiced for the physical welfare of "over the hill" fighters who continue boxing. Methods to curb racketeering in boxing and a plea from Commissioner Abe J. Greene for general strengthening of the NBA to meet increasing problems in the fight world were other highlights of the four-day meeting.

"We are concerned about fighters who fail to look after themselves financially," Greene said. Greene said the NBA would send notice to all athletic commissions in the United States and licensed boxers and managers warning them of the need for savings funds for income tax payments.

A pension plan for fighters also was discussed. The NBA itself could not establish one, Greene said, but the convention called for passage of the Jenkins-Keogh bill now before Congress — a voluntary retirement fund plan which boxers could join.

The measure, passed by the House and now in the Senate, would allow self-employed people to put aside a certain amount of their income free of tax until retirement.

Seixas Returns To Court To Win In National Match

By Will Grimsley
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (AP) — An old star came back and a new one was born Monday in the National Tennis Championships.

Vic Seixas, 36, former Wimbledon and U.S. titleholder and veteran of seven Davis Cup campaigns before he retired to week-end competition, delighted a West Side Club gallery of 11,500 by outfoxing the celebrated Ramanathan Krishnan of India, 6-3, 6-4, 6-2.

It was the first break in men's seedings. The 22-year-old Indian had been seeded fifth on the strength of a series of impressive international triumphs this year, including two over top-ranked Alex Olmedo.

Meanwhile, on an adjoining court, a 16-year-old high school girl from San Diego, Calif., Karen Hantze, was drawing raves with a crisp upset of Angela Mortimer of Britain, No. 5 seeded player in the women's division. The score was 6-4, 6-4.

Another mild surprise in the women's division saw Mrs. Shirley Bloomer Brasher, Britain's No. 2 Wightman Cup star, score 6-3, 6-4 over Renee Schuurman of South Africa, No. 7 seed.

Barry MacKay of Dayton, Ohio, moved forward with a straight-set triumph over Crawford Henry of Atlanta, 6-3, 8-6, 7-5.

Round Table Wins Race, Sets Record

CHICAGO (AP) — Sensational Round Table, scooting ahead under Jockey Willie Shoemaker at the three-sixteenths pole, Monday scored an easy 6½ lengths victory in the $122,000 Washington Park Handicap.

The millionaire champion of Travis Kerr shattered Arlington Park's record for a mile and a furlong on the dirt with a time of 1:47.1-5.

Claiborne Farm's Duncie, ridden by John Rotz, was second, and Mrs. Lora Birr's Belleau Chief, with John Sellers aboard, was third.

Round Table picked up $72,550 for his seventh victory in 10 starts this season to boost his overall earnings to $1,614,339. It was the 10th record set by the great champion in his 62-race career.

The old Arlington Park mark for the distance was 1:48.2-5 held jointly by Coaltown and Better Bee.

Round Table, a 3-5 favorite of the crowd of 33,184, returned $3.40, $2.60 and $2.20. Duncie paid $3.40 and $2.40, and Belleau Chief $3.40 to show.

Until the halfway point, Duncie and Round Table were running last in the field of six with Terrang, Belleau Chief and Better Bee setting a neck-to-neck pace. On the stretch turn, Round Table started his drive after Terra Firma had broken ahead.

Round Table zipped Past Terra Firma, and at the head of the stretch kept increasing his lead without a challenge of any kind.

Terra Firma wound up fourth. Terrang was fifth and Better Bee sixth.

Round Table now has won 29 stakes, but this victory was only his third in 10 starts on the dirt at the Arlington and Washington Park tracks in Chicago. His last main course score was June 13 of this year when he took the Baltimore Citation Handicap in Washington Park matching the track record for a mile of 1:33.2-5.

No Swimming For Green

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate's oldest member said Monday his main complaint about early and late sessions is they hardly allow a man time for a swim.

But 91-year-old Sen. Theodore Francis Green (D-R.I.) said he usually manages about 20 minutes of setting up exercises before taking a trolley to the capitol.

Phils Win From Reds Monday, 6-4

CINCINNATI (AP)—Dave Philley hit a home run in the ninth inning with Joe Koppe on base to give Philadelphia a 6-4 victory over Cincinnati Monday. It was Philley's 7th of the year.

Ruben Gomez, who relieved Humberto Robinson with two out in the eighth inning, was the winning pitcher, Orlando Pena, who took over for Don Newcombe in the sixth, was the losing hurler.

Philadelphia scored twice in the first inning on hits by Richie Ashburn, Koppe, and Philley. It added two more in the sixth when Wally Post hit his 20th home run of the year and Carl Sawatski got a ground rule double after Harry Anderson had singled.

Then in the ninth, Koppe doubled — his fourth safety of the game — and Philley hit the ball out of the park.

Cincinnati scored twice in the fifth on a wild pitch by pitcher Robinson, and another run on a hit by Newcombe.

Willie Jones got his 13th homer of the season for Cincinnati in the sixth to tie the game until the ninth.

Kluszewski's Batting Gives Sox Wins Over A's, 2-1, 13-7

CHICAGO (AP) — Ted Kluszewski, snatched from the National League to provide pennant-bound Chicago with some power, came through Monday to lead the White Sox to a 2-1 and 13-7 victories over Kansas City.

Kluszewski smashed a pair of homers to spark Chicago's second game victory and his single in the third inning of the opener was the key hit in providing the White Sox with their 32nd one-run triumph this season.

Despite their double victory, the Sox failed to gain ground on second place Cleveland which swept a double header from Detroit to remain 4½ games off the pace.

However, the Sox reduced the magic number to 14. Any combination of 14 Chicago victories and Cleveland losses will assure the Sox of their first pennant in 40 years.

Klue's first American League homer came in the third inning with one on to help the Sox move into a 4-4 tie after they had trailed 4-0. The drive was contagious as both Al Smith and Jim Rivera homered in the same inning to put Chicago ahead 7-4.

Both of Chicago's first-game runs came in the third inning. With one out both Nellie Fox and Jim Landis singled. Klu also singled driving Fox home and sending Landis to third. When outfield Roger Maris hesitated on where to throw, Landis streaked home with what proved to be the winning run.

Billy Pierce, making his first pitching appearance since suffering a hip injury Aug. 15, was the winning pitcher in the opener although he was lifted for a pinch batter in the seventh inning. Turk Lown finished up.

Pierce, evening his record at 13-13, gave up five hits including a home run to Joe DeMaestri. Ned Garver (9-12) went all the way for Kansas City.

Frick, while predicting ultimate success for a third league, was so bullish about its immediate future that Rep. Emanuel Celler (D-N.Y.) commented "it may well die aborning."

Boston Runs Slam Yanks, 12-4

BOSTON (AP) — Consecutive home runs by Don Buddin, Jerry Casale and Pumpsie Green which tied a major league record Monday enabled Boston to continue mastery of New York 12-4.

Buddin connected for a three-run blast to centerfield off Yankee starter Duke Maas, then Casale and Green lagged drives to left and right at Bob Turley's expense in a six-run, second inning.

The trio thus duplicated a feat equaled many times but never topped.

Jackie Jensen opened the big frame with a smash to left center which appeared to hit a light tower for a homer, but was ruled a double, off the top of the wall. Sammy White singled Jensen across before the homer barge began.

Jensen reached 100 runs batted-in with a two-run double in the eighth.

New York counted once in the top of the second on Gil McDougald's triple. Home runs by Andy Carey and Mickey Mantle, No. 27, added three more in the third.

Roy Sievers, pinch-hitting for winning pitcher Hal Woodeshick, followed with his 20th home run of the year and Ron Sanford added a three-run homer moments later.

Brooks Robinson had given the Orioles life in the bottom of the ninth by leading off with his third home run, tying it up at 1-1.

Hoyle Wilhelm, who pitched to only one man, suffered his 11th defeat against 11 victories. He allowed a single by Bob Allison in the 10th inning after following starter Jack Fisher and Billy Loe.

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Big Sam Jones notched victory No. 19 Monday as the National League leading San Francisco Giants came from behind to beat the St. Louis Cardinals 4-2.

The 33-year-old right-hander, nearing the first 20-game winning season of his career, gave up a run in the first and another in the fourth, the latter as Curt Flood hit a solo homer.

With a capacity crowd of 22,815 in Seals Stadium, the Giants starter back in the last of the fourth with one run and added two more in the sixth. Orlando Cepeda, who collected three straight singles, drove in the tie-breaker.

Jones himself made it 4-2 in the seventh with a single after Eddie Bressoud doubled.

Big Sam, who played with the Cards last season, struck out nine and walked four. The loss went to rookie Bob Gibson, his fifth against a single victory. Jones, who works both as a starter and reliever, gave up seven hits as his teammates hit safely 10 times.

One of them, by rookie Willie McCovey, ran his hitting streak to 20 games. Ken Boyer of the Cards singled on a high bounce to shortstop in the eighth to keep his string alive at 25.

St. Louis tallied in the first inning, then Flood made it 2-0 with a 370-foot fourth inning homer into the left field pavilion. San Francisco grabbed one back in the bottom of the inning and pulled ahead in the sixth on three singles and a couple of bad throws.

Suit Filed In Death Of Local Girl

MRS. Mabel A. Kishbaugh, East Stroudsburg, has filed suit for not more than $5,000 in Carbon County Court as the result of the death of her daughter, last Nov. 14 at Lake Harmony.

Mrs. Kishbaugh is the mother of Claire Evelyn Kishbaugh and administrator of her daughter's estate.

Named as defendant is Mrs. Jean Papinick of Summit Hill, administratrix of the estate of her husband, John J. Papinick, who was found dead with Miss Kishbaugh in a car near Split Rock Lodge, Lake Harmony.

The complaint charges the car was owned by Papinick's Mrs. Mary Papinick of Summit Hill.

The plaintiff claims the muffler of the car was worn out and rusted and disintegrated to such an extent that it had several holes in it. It is claimed the holes permitted carbon monoxide gases manufactured by the engine to escape from the muffler.

The condition of the car's muffler must have been known to the car's owner, since it was driven almost daily.

Mrs. Kishbaugh is seeking damages on the basis of loss of earnings of her daughter until she became 21 years of age and further damages to her estate.

Work Not Complete On Area Bridge

A STATE Highway Department spokesman said last night there is a "couple of more weeks" of work to be done on Route 90 bridge near Anasink before it will be opened to the public.

A Victor Cesare, engineer for the department's District Five, said the contractor, Gasparini Excavating Co. of Scranton, is ahead of schedule on the project.

Heavy Rains

Cesare said he believed heavy rains of the last few weeks may have delayed the contractor somewhat. It had originally been estimated the bridge would be open by Labor Day.

Some work remains to be done on the bridge and the roadway, Cesare said.

FIRST—The Ford Falcon, first of America's new-size cars, represents a "breakthrough" in automotive design that may materially alter the future of the automobile industry. The Falcon Ford shown here is more than two feet shorter and three-quarters of a ton lighter than a standard 1959 Ford. Yet, the Falcon is a six-passenger car, with interior roominess approximating that of standard models.

600 Respond To Request Of Wardens

FORMER buyers of Pennsylvania fishing licenses have this to say:

The cost of the license is too high — for the number of fish caught — for the number of places to fish — for old folks.

Close to 600 former license holders throughout the state responded to the published request of fish wardens for reasons why they no longer buy licenses, Monroe County Fish Warden James F. Hazen of Mount Pocono said.

The information was sought for a study by a special committee of the House on the decline in fishing license sales in 1957 and 1958.

Reasons Cited

A total of 41 reasons were cited, with some letters containing as many as six. Mentioned most often was "license too high," though many qualified this with the answers given above.

"Not enough fish to be caught" was listed in 146 letters, with pollution a close second, being mentioned 139 times.

Other reasons that placed high were not enough fish stocked, stocking methods, tackle and travel too expensive, too much emphasis on trout, trout stocked too small, motorboats and posted water.

Some of the lighter comments:

One fisherman said all the fish in a reservoir on the Pennsylvania-Maryland border were taken by the warden and "why don't the Fish Commission get some over on our side where I can fish for them?"

Another writer said he was married two years ago and his wife kept him too busy to go fishing and "would the Fish Commission do something about this?"

Warden Hazen, in expressing his appreciation for the cooperation he received, said, "These letters will prove valuable to the Fish Commission in its fishery and education program. They will also aid the committee of the Legislature in its study of the matter."
